Democratic State Ticket.

FOR GOVERNOR,
WILLIAM ALLEN, of Ross.
LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR,
SAMUEL F. CARY, of Hamilton.
FOR SUPREME JUDGE,
THOS. Q. ASHBURN, of Clermont.
FOR AUDITOR OF STATE,
E. M. GREENE, of Shelby.
FOR TREASURER OF STATE,
JOHN SCHREINER, of Meigs.
FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
THOS. B. POWELL, of Delaware.
MEMBER BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS,
H. E. O'HAGAN, of Erie.

The communication of J. H. Foss, Esq., will appear in next week's Democrat.

Ex-President ANDREW JOHNSON died of paralysis and heart disease on Saturday last, at the residence of his daughter in East Tennessee, Carter county. Andrew Johnson was as honest and pure a patriot as ever lived.

Governor Allen says, "there is not a Democrat in the land, who will oppose a resumption of specie payment, when it can be brought about without paralyzing industries and impoverishing and distressing the people."

The Democratic campaign opens with great enthusiasm and the indications are that Allen's majority will be larger than has yet been anticipated by the most sanguine Democrats.

Hayes beat Taft in the Republican convention, because he was a Crusader, and Taft would take a glass of beer. Hayes' contribution to the Crusade was five hundred dollars.

The Democracy and farmers of Guernsey county have united and nominated a ticket that will be elected. The farmers are with the Democracy this year. They are tired of so much 3d termism.

The Republicans have proved that CARY is a sober, temperate man. The Democrats have proved that TOM YOUNG is a Whisky drinking bum. Therefore all good men will vote for CARY.

It is the Republican party that is organizing the Know-Nothing lodges in this county, which have for their object the proscription of all foreigners, and yet there are Germans who continue to act with this party, notwithstanding its bigotry and intolerant spirit toward them.

The Republicans object to Gen. Cary, because he saw the error of his way, and withdrawing from the Republican party when at the high tide of success, joined the Democracy, but they don't object to their candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Tom Young, for changing from a Democrat and supporter of Vallandigham, to a Republican, to get office.

The bondholders and their allies are strongly opposed to the Democratic platform. No wonder, for it proposes to give the poor man an equal chance with the bondholder, and that is what the latter don't like.

We should like to see our Republican brethren, who figured so largely in the temperance crusade, vote for Tom Young the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor. It has been estimated that Thomas could hold more poor whisky to the square inch, than any other man in Ohio.

Every vote cast in Preble county for Hayes for Governor, is a vote for the administration of Gen. Grant, which the Eaton Register has pronounced "corrupt beyond precedent." Let the honest and independent voters recollect this fact when casting their ballots on the second Tuesday of October next. The Convention that nominated Hayes, proclaimed this "unprecedented corrupt" administration a "distinguished success," and now ask the people of Ohio to endorse their shameless offciousness.

SENATOR THURMAN.

Senator THURMAN spoke at Mansfield, O., on Saturday last. His speech gave but little consolation to the Republicans, who had built great hopes upon what he might say in opposition to our currency platform. He counseled his hard-money friends to vote the Democratic ticket, and thus sored on the radicals. The platform is yet unbroken. Victory is certain.

RAIN! RAIN!!

The whole face of the western country seems to be deluged with water, and still it rains. The destruction of crops, Railroads, Bridges, Buildings, &c., is fearful, and no doubt will be the cause of much suffering among the farmers and persons living in the low lands. Such a continuous storm of wind and rains, never was known before in this country. When will it stop? seems to be the anxious inquiry of all.

GRANT'S COST TO THE COUNTRY.

A few weeks ago we published a statement of the cost of the Grant administration to the country, which the editor of the Eaton Register, who is an office-holder under this rotten and thieving administration, made a very lame effort to prove untrue. We this week publish in another column, the statement of expenses of the Federal Government, from 1849 to the present fiscal year. It is copied from the New York Sun, which is not a Democratic paper, and cannot be charged as made out in the interest of the Democratic party. We ask the tax payers, the farmers, the suffering and distressed industries of the country to read it carefully. They will see the outrageous extravagance of this man Grant, whom the Republican party of Ohio indorsed as a "capable and judicious statesman," and his administration as a "distinguished success." They will learn how this same party laughs at the distress in the country. They will understand what reliance can be placed on the professions of this rotten and "unprecedented corrupt party," and they will find that the true friends of the labor of the country are to be found outside of this thieving party. A paper currency fifteen cents below gold; idle hands, distress everywhere; forges, furnaces, mills, trade, commerce, business languishing or out of work; destitution in all trades; the highest taxes; profligate waste of the people's money; stealing, jobs, corruption and frauds in every department of the Government, and all the fruits of this "capable and judicious statesman" and his party.

Let the people read. Let every opportunity be taken to show the honest and oppressed tax-payers the facts. Expose the rottenness and outrages of this Grant party and his paid satraps. Take facts and figures so that no dispute may arise as to the statements made on these subjects. Awaken further attention to the frauds and extravagance of the Radical party; and then when once the masses of our citizens comprehend the actual condition of affairs as the result of the Radical party's rule, the remedy and the relief will be found in the ballot-box. Change the party in power. They have had it long enough. We want better times and we will try a change. These will be the opinions of the great majority of the people, and these opinions expressed at the ballot-box will restore prosperity to every class of our people. It is at least worthy a trial. It cannot be worse. Let the oppressed consider this fact.

"The lesson is an old one, and has been repeated a thousand times, that the price of blundering, in matters of government, is the inevitable weakening of popular confidence, if not the absolute loss of place and power. Had the Administration at Washington, since the commencement of the 42d Congress avoided less than a half dozen blunders, which even ordinary sagacity ought to have suggested, the Republican party had now been counting its gains instead of its losses. The exposure of corruption and frauds has created in the minds of many a distrust and desire for a change of leaders, &c."—Eaton Register, Nov. 5, 1874.

Now the Register is under the control of one of Grant's office-holders, and it goes back on all its denunciations of the corruptions and rascalities of the Republican party, and is laboring hard to persuade the tax-ridden and robbed people of Preble county, that their desire for a change one year ago, was a false delusion, and that they should continue to vote this "unprecedented corrupt party" in power. It remains to be seen, whether the honest and independent voters will be so party bound, as to be thus deceived by the oily-tongued office-holders of this corrupt and profligate party.

Those "honest and consistent" Democrats, who have "borne all the burdens and expense of former campaigns" in this county, should apply immediately for consolation to the editor of the Eaton Register. Although not personally interested in their affliction, he is so humane and kind, that he will sacrifice the Grant administration to give them relief. He has saved the country from being devoured by the Pope at an immense sacrifice, and he is now willing to have all of his relations perish in order to protect these "honest and consistent" Democrats. Give him a call.

Ten years ago, in 1865, when we had twenty-one hundred millions of dollars of a circulating currency, the wages of laboring men was two and a half dollars a day, and no man was idle because he could not obtain employment. Now we only have a circulating currency of seven hundred millions of dollars, and the wages of the laborer will not average one dollar and ten cents a day, and it is next to impossible to obtain work at that price.

Allen, Cary, and more currency is the motto of the Democracy. Hayes, Young and harder times is the motto of the Republicans. If self interest is consulted, merchants, mechanics, farmers and all other laboring men will vote with the Democracy, and banks, money shavers and office-holders will vote with the Republicans.

Forced Resumption of Specie payments is the financial goal of the Republican party of Ohio. Alone through that, they assure us, is the business salvation of the country possible. They had a trial of forced resumption of specie payments in England. How did it operate in that country? Doubtless, in his Financial History of England, tells the story, and our people should profit by England's experience in the matter. In 1819, Peel's Bill to restore Cash Payments was passed. It took effect in 1820. Doubtless describes the condition of the country one year after that law went into effect as follows:

"The distress, ruin and bankruptcy which now took place were universal, affecting both the great interests of the land and trade. In hundreds of cases, from the tremendous reduction in the price of land, the estates barely sold for as much as would pay off the mortgages, and hence the owners were stripped of all and made beggars. The tables of both Houses of Parliament were loaded with petitions, detailing scenes of hardships and destitution appalling in the extreme.

It was an era of suffering, destitution and crime, and the whole land was one scene of confusion, dismay and bankruptcy.

The price of grain went on slowly and progressively falling for a decade when, in 1833, wheat was selling for four shillings a bushel. Prices were, upon the whole, lower than they had been for half a century before, and Agricultural distress pervaded the land from one end to the other."

Do our people want to vote such a condition of affairs on themselves, by voting the Republican ticket?

By far the most important of the issues now before the people of the United States is that which relates to the currency.—Republican paper. This is not so. The currency is an important thing no doubt, but it is of trifling consequence compared with the question whether the affairs of the country shall be administered by thieves or by honest men. If plundering and swindling are to be the rule of public life, it makes very little difference whether the currency is paper or coin. Let us first drive the robbers out of the temple of our republican freedom, and then we shall be prepared to consider what sort of money is most convenient and beneficial. By far the most important of the issues now before the people of the United States is that which relates to honesty and economy in public affairs.

COLONEL FRED. GRANT has retired from the army. He will be a banker at Washington.—Exchange.

Fred has, like his "capable and judicious" daddy, been a little expensive to our people. Educated at the public expense, he then traveled in Europe at a cost to the Treasury of from eight to ten thousand dollars, was made a Colonel and drew a Colonel's pay, and now, after his education and travels are completed, he resigns, never having performed an hour's service in the army. None but a Grant could be thus impudent and grasping. His administration like his illustrious daddy's has been a "distinguished success." Great is the Grant family.

The contest in Somers township on the 30th ult., for Delegates to the Ring Convention, from all accounts was rather a "heated" affair, on which occasion several "mills" occurred between prominent and aspiring Republicans. It shows how "good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity and peace." The editor of the Eaton Register should see to these difficulties among his political supporters. "Rah for the ticket!"

We hear men talking against the currency plank of the Democratic platform who cannot pay their debts, and who are crowded the hardest kind to get along, and all because money is so scarce that it is next to impossible to obtain it at all. If it does look like the height of human folly for men to cling so closely to party and the dictation of party leaders that they will advocate universal bankruptcy and ruin, and cast their votes to that end, simply because the Democratic party wants to make money a little plentier and times better.

Hayes when filling the gubernatorial chair was a great fellow to live at other people's expense. He wanted the citizens of Ohio to build a Governor's residence at an expense of over $200,000, and whenever he traveled on the cars it was through the use of a dead-head ticket. As a strong contrast with Hayes we cite Governor Allen, who peremptorily refuses all railroad passes and all other dead-head favors, rents his own dwelling, paying for it out of his own purse. Allen is the people's candidate and Hayes that of the aristocratic nabob and money lender.

Every fellow who has more money than he wants will vote for Hayes and thus shorten up the supply, those who think a few greenbacks handy in the family, will vote for "Uncle William Allen."

The man who says the Democracy favor repudiation when they want to bring greenbacks to a par with gold, is a fool, and he ought to have sense enough to know it without being told.

FACTS FOR TAX-PAYERS.

A detailed statement has been prepared and published of all the appropriations made for the personal benefit of the various Presidents for the past twenty-five years. The general recapitulation is as follows:

Annual average under Taylor-Pillmore (1850-56)	$24,000
Annual average under Pierce (Democrat) (1857-60)	$1,200
Annual average under Buchanan (Democrat) (1861-65)	$2,400
Annual average under Grant (Republican) (1869-75)	$2,400
Annual average second term of Grant (Republican) (1875-76)	$10,000

These figures disclose some remarkable facts and contrasts. The era of prodigality began with Grantism. Taylor, Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan, and Lincoln were content to follow in the footsteps of their predecessors, to live simply, and to effect no ostentation whatever. They were all faithful to their duties, and set an example of fidelity, exactness, and honesty which was felt throughout the public service.

Mr. Lincoln went through the war and met all the extraordinary demands of that time, without adding to the expenses of the Executive office. He permitted no false pretenses by which money might be taken from the Treasury and diverted to personal uses. He tolerated no rings, and did not consort with plunderers.

Under recent Presidents it was the practice to appropriate $20,000 to refurbish the White House at a change of administration. Often the sum voted for this object was not so large as that. When Grant came in the Republicans voted $25,000, and every year since then $10,000 or $15,000 has been regularly inserted in the bills. Those who are familiar with the White House know that this money has not been expended for furniture.

Formerly there was no contingent fund allowed the President. But $350 was appropriated to Mr. Buchanan, which was raised to $1,000 for Mr. Lincoln, and $2,000 in his last year. Grant has been given $5,000, which is virtually so much money added to his double salary.

The cost of fuel for the White House was of late years $1,000 per annum. During the war the appropriation was raised to $2,400, on account of the augmented cost of coal and wood. Now, when they have fallen, $5,000 a year is the appropriation for Grant.

South of the President's house, and within the enclosure, is a small and unsightly patch of ground, which is covered with wild grass, and has received little attention of any kind. But Babcock gets $10,000 a year to improve it, and knows where the money goes.

The greenhouse is made to answer for nearly $10,000 a year on the books of the Treasury, but not one tenth of it is applied to the purpose intended by law.

These are only a few items in the roll of perquisites which Grant enjoys, and which were heretofore wholly unknown. The responsibility lies between Grant and Babcock for application of this money, and nothing but a stern inquiry by the House of Representatives behind the vouchers will bring this scandal to light. Tens of thousands have certainly been stolen, since there is nothing to show for these large appropriations, either in the furniture at the White House, the improvements of the southern part of the grounds, the contingent expenses or the fuel consumed.

In addition to all the advantages, the White House and grounds are lighted at the public cost, and Grant's only actual outlay is for the maintenance of the household and a few personal "extra" dinners in the winter. No wonder he wants a third term.

Judge KELLEY, of Philadelphia, who is the Republican leader in Congress, was interviewed by a correspondent of the New York Tribune, after his return from Youngstown, Ohio, where he delivered a great speech. He quoted: "As to the probable result of the campaign in Ohio, he says that his field of observation, while in that State, was limited to a single section, but if what he saw and heard there furnishes an index to public opinion elsewhere, there can be no doubt of ALLEN's election. The Democrats will, he knows, make heavy gains in Youngstown and vicinity on account of their attitude in favor of more currency. He talked with men there who had never voted for a Democrat since the Republican party was formed, but who were supporting ALLEN on account of the currency plank in the Democratic platform; and since he reached home he has received letters from others of the same political antecedents who express a like determination."

The last Republican Congress added thirty-five millions of dollars to the people's taxes. The late Democratic Legislature reduced the people's taxes $584,000; saved $24,000 in its last session and between $300,000 and $337,000 in officer's salaries. Yet Republican papers extol Congress and abuse the Legislature. They seem to have an idea that people love to be taxed.

The Republican papers say that "everywhere the old spirit of Republican victory is awakening." The same spirit which has animated the office-holders for sixteen years is exhibited in their efforts to hold on to their offices. The office-holders are excited over the bare idea of being obliged to go out of office, and they imagine the people feel just as they do about it. It is the old spirit of the office-holders that is waked up.

The Republicans say that SAM CARY is an office seeker, yet it is a well-known fact that he resigned a $20,000 U. S. Collectorship rather than support ASH JOHNSON. Demagogues and office-seekers don't resign $20,000 offices for nothing.

Col. MONTGOMERY, heretofore a prominent Republican of Hocking county, on Monday afternoon of last week, by invitation, addressed the workmen of the Logan Manufacturing Company, on the principles of finance, for which purpose they quit work at five o'clock. We are sorry we cannot find room for his remarks in full, but give the following concluding paragraphs:

CONCLUSION.
If there is any apparent or possible good that can come from stopping furnaces, closing workshops, begging your families, ruining your neighbors, and bankrupting the country, then vote for contraction. Gen. Hayes is the exponent of this doctrine, vote for him.

If on the contrary, you think this young and growing country should go ahead, prospering and to prosper, that its busy wheels should buzz all over the land, that the smoke of its factories should rise on all hands, that comfortable homes filled with happy families should dot the hill sides and valleys, and that we should be strong and great, offering homes to the homeless, food to the hungry and rest to the weary, then vote for inflation. Gov. Allen is the exponent of this—vote for him.

To those of us who are Republicans, the situation is very embarrassing. After battling for years to introduce greenbacks and make them money we are now suddenly called upon to pronounce them "lying promises," "filthy rags" and a "wile and a cheat." And to make it worse, there is no half way ground. If we want more money we cannot get it in our party, we look to it for bread and it gives us stone. I am sorry from the bottom of my soul that it is so. But it cannot be helped, and all those Republicans who desire prosperity can only make their voices heard in the common election by voting for Allen. It is a bitter alternative. Very bitter. Poverty and destitution and bankruptcy are more bitter.

For the Democrat.
UNION CITY, IND.,
July 28th, 1875.

Ed. Democrat.—Rain, rain, rain, and then for a variety a little more rain. The continued wet weather has caused a general feeling of despondency among the farmers of Darke county. It commenced to rain on Sunday evening last, and not one hour has passed since then, but what it rained. The entire country is submerged with water. The wheat is entirely ruined. I witnessed something this morning which I never before beheld, wheat shocks in water to the bands. Oats which were so promising are entirely gone. The majority of the farmers have turned their stock on them to finish what little of them are left. Corn will not make a half crop. Potatoes are rotting, and in fact every thing which we are dependent upon will prove a failure. That there will be more suffering during the next year, than any previous year for the past half century, is no longer a question of doubt, I am not exaggerating. It is with pain that I pen the above facts.

Union City still exists, and whiskey flows in abundance. A tramp was run over Tuesday night, by a passing freight train, and had his arm badly lacerated. Trade is not so flourishing in the city as might be expected.

As regards politics, there is not much being said, for the minds of the intelligent portion of our community are absorbed in things of more importance. Yours,
JOSIAH WARE.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Ohio to that journal on the political situation and prospect, says:
"I am loath to believe that Gov. Hayes, leading a renegade party, can be beaten in a state which has a good republican majority of 40,000 on a full vote and on a straight issue between republicanism and democracy; but if Youngstown furnishes a sample of the feeling that prevails in other manufacturing and mining regions his prospects are, to say the least, precarious. The number of republicans in the town who will vote for Allen on the currency issue is variously estimated at from 100 to 300, and the estimates are made, not by democrats, but by active republican politicians."

Democrats are liberal so is Gen. CARY. Democrats are satisfied with him, and it matters not if Republican leaders are not. They will of course abuse him because he is temperate in his habits, but not a narrow minded persecutor of all those who are not. Let them rant.

There has been a contraction of more than $1,500,000,000 of the volume of currency since the beginning of 1865; yet the hard money demagogues are now denying that there has been any contraction. What is still worse, there has been a contraction of from $15,000,000 to $17,000,000 in the last year, and two-thirds of it since the 14th day of last January, and the public robbers are still at their nefarious business.

Of all the speculators who are engineering the currency of the country with a view to fattening on the bankruptcy which would follow their contraction policy, not one can offer a reason, which an honest man should not be ashamed of, why the volume of currency should not be made and kept equal to the wants of trade.

Kentucky voted Democratic on Monday last as usual. She elects her Democratic Governor by about 45,000 majority! That will do.

The Order of Red Men in Eaton has "busted," and sold out at auction.

The Radicals are not pleased with Senator THURMAN's speech. How sad.
